I'm using it for some time now and have been able to check out the V2 beta. The names of classes associated with this plugin were inexplicably changed. Tutor, the advanced WordPress LMS plugin lets you present courses on an intuitive user interface with all required options to offer a top-notch learning system. Lessons are now not responsive, quizzes don't work and short answer is pretty much open ended answers with fewer characters. New: Assignment evaluation status column in the frontend dashboard. Some features are now missing (the "mark as complete" button is completely gone on my site) The developer is overwhelmed with support requests, so don't expect a reply. This plugin does not deserve one star, but treat it as a sobering-up kick. Have lessons under course and attach video and other attachments to each lesson. New: 3 new email notifications for content drip published lessons, quizzes and assignments. Tutor LMS is very powerful, the course tab, the profile system (specially the profile page) and the course list. Tutor Multi Instructors: Add as many instructors as you want to individual courses. Thanks Wordfence! Update: Option added to enter decimal value in withdrawal request Update: Code optimization in the frontend Earnings report Fix: 404 console error due to min.map asset files Fix: An active PHP session was detected issue Fix: Division by 0 warning in Gradebook Fix: Zoom meeting list pagination issue 1.8.1 – February 05, 2021 New: Course enrolment expiration New: Email Notification for course enrolment expiration Update: Improved frontend asset loading on Zoom Meetings Update: Confirmation message after saving Zoom Meetings Fix: Meeting access issue while using Zoom on Course Single Page Fix: Quiz not loading on the lesson page Fix: Max student count not saving 1.8.0 – February 03, 2021 New: Search filter in Assignments New: Confirmation message while saving data added New: Frontend and backend UX for Assignments redesigned New: Thank you notice when instructors submit a course for review added Update: All the email notification templates moved to Pro version Update: HTML tag support in Quiz description added Update: Date time column in Student enrolment report added Update: User capability check in announcements Ajax action added Fix: Redundant or duplicate email issue when student enrolments are changed. * Blended learning * Community education * Online classroom * Training courses * Professional continuing education * These are just a few possibilities that Tutor LMS opens up for its users. MINIMALISTIC AND UNIFORM DESIGN With a minimalistic and uniform design, Tutor LMS gives you the best user experience that is easy on the eyes and also easy to use. Enhance the course experience of students by having the option to have a great lineup of teachers. Tutor Prerequisites: Define a certain set of courses that students need to complete before enrolling for a new course. Add questions while setting up quizzes or add them from preset questions from the Question section. Total disaster I have pro lifetime versions and I'm starting to regret it. Its also been improved in terms of accessibility to make things easier for any user with disabilities. Fix: Compatibility issue with Divi Builder. I was previously a Tutor LMS Pro user, but I won't be renewing and looking into a simpler alternative.
